

Wes Studi: Antivirals

[Wes Studi speaking Cherokee] Hello. This Is Wes Studi.

[Wes Studi] If you come down with seasonal flu or the H1N1 flu, prescription medicines, called antivirals, can help you feel better and prevent the more severe effects of flu.

Pregnant women, young children, the elderly and people with chronic diseases like diabetes or asthma should receive antivirals as soon as possible when flu symptoms develop. So, contact your doctor right away.

Antivirals can help protect the circle of life.
